

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed is a vacuum cleaner that does not require an extra storage device for housing an accessory. In a vacuum cleaner with an extension pipe connected to a suction brush, and a suction passage formed by connecting the extension pipe to a 5 cleaner body, the vacuum cleaner includes a connection member body. One end of the connection member body is connected to the extension pipe and the other end is connected to a flexible hose which is in turn connected to the cleaner body. A clamping part is integrally formed with the connection member body. The coupling part is adapted to store the accessory.

10